

RELIABILITY

Mother Nature and the world's tumultuous financial debacle ganged up on Plastics People in 2008. They were forced to ride a resin market roller coaster that even old-time plastics veterans had never before experienced.

Team Discover wants you to know that throughout this year its primary goal has been to serve its customer's interests with the same reliability that you are used to.

In order to perform for you, the team relied on the best group of vendors in the industry. They thank those vendors for helping them fulfill your needs in a superior manner.

Since 1974, Team Discover has weathered many storms in the resin markets. Their experience and relationships helped them perform during 2008. That same experience and those relationships will help them perform in 2009 and future years.

HOLIDAY LIGHTS

Holiday lights start to shine far before the Winter Solstice, the darkest day of the year. Those lights can encourage us to remember that brighter days are ahead.

There are many possible ways to face today's difficulties. It is possible to choose to fear them and it is possible to choose to see them as a challenge. Most Folks don't normally approach fear with excitement, instead they tend to shy away from it. A challenge, on the other hand, can be approached with verve and excitement.

Encouragement is a great Christmas gift for family and all those we hold dear. Encourage them to look forward to a time when today's difficulties will be memories.

Team Discover sends its very best wishes to you and yours for a happy holiday season.
